
2005 Yamaha XT225

Posted by Larry Scalzitti - 2009/06/25 16:09

I bought this bike from a young man in Virginia. He wanted to make the transition from riding an ATV to a motorcycle, but didn't get beyond riding around his house once a month. So he sold it to me with 13 miles on it.

I've used it for 3 seasons in a small motorcycle training business (www.lrn2ryd.com) and have put a tad over 660 miles on the bike. I usually reserve this bike for my longer inseam folks, but that seems like an extravagance that I can't afford anymore. It is in terrific shape and has been well maintained. I had an annual service done on it this summer, so the fluids are fresh and the bike is ready to ride.

The first $2350 can drive to Lake Zurich and take her home.

Check out the pics that I posted on my smugmug site.
